Welcome

Welcome to one of the most challenging and rewarding professions: Teaching. Teaching is not only important to children, but also to parents/guardians, families, communities, and society. Teachers not only provide an academic education to students, but also teach them life skills and serve as role models. You can make a difference in the lives of the students you teach!

The rewards in teaching differ from those of other professions. The twinkle in an eye, the smile on a face, a head held higher, the excitement in a voice are all rewards reflected in our students. Another reward is the pride in a parent's/guardian's voice as you share positive news about their child. Acknowledge these rewards, treasure them, and keep them as reminders of the difference you make in the lives of your students.

Introduction

The Educator Support Program (ESP), the program of support and induction for new educators, is designed to elicit evidence that a beginning teacher or a teacher that is new to the state or school district (regardless of certificate type) has demonstrated teaching competence that promotes student learning according to state and district guidelines. The ESP helps ensure that all beginning teachers have opportunities to strengthen their knowledge of instructional strategies, enhance their understanding of students as learners, and begin a process of lifelong learning and professional growth. It is all designed to support teachers that may have experience, but may be new to Florida, or to Palm Beach County. The purposes of teacher induction programs are to increase student learning by providing a set of supervised support services for teachers in their first year of teaching in the county regardless of previous experience. It is designed to assist new teachers in continuance of their professional development, and to verify satisfactory performance for the professional certificate.

Additional support material and information for the Educator Support Program can be found on the Department of Professional Development's website:
<http://www.palmbeachschools.org/staffdev/NewEducators.asp>

Definition

The Educator Support Program (ESP) is the School District of Palm Beach County's formal program of support for newly hired educators. Types of support include a support team, professional development opportunities, observations, conferences, and written and oral feedback.

Goal

We believe that student learning is directly related to teacher competence and that teachers, like students, must be continual learners. The goal of the ESP is to improve the initial teaching experience of newly hired educators thereby having a positive impact on student learning. This is accomplished by supporting the new educators in the development of instructional and other professional practices. The program components are designed to provide support to new educators as they master the criteria of the Florida Educator

Accomplished Practices (FEAPs). Completion of the ESP does not guarantee continued employment in the School District of Palm Beach County.

ESP Handbook

The ESP Handbook provides new educators and their support teams with an explanation of the program.

- The ESP Handbook is located on the Professional Development's website: <http://www.palmbeachschools.org/staffdev/NewEducators.asp>
- The ESP Handbook contains information about the ESP and forms that relate to new educator support.

ESP Support Team

The ESP is implemented at the new educator's school or work site. Each new educator has a support team comprised of the ESP contact, the mentor, and the new teacher. Other people who may provide support include the principal, a buddy teacher, an online mentor, or a National Board Certified Teacher.

- Completes informal observations of the new teacher and provides feedback about the observations

New Educator

In-service Points

Points are available to mentors of new educators and may only be awarded by the Department of Professional Development. To be awarded points for supporting an educator participating in ESP, each mentor needs to complete the Beginning/Aspiring Educator Program Support Mentor Log (PBSD 2411), have the log verified by the ESP Contact, and submit the log to the Department of Professional Development on or before May 11th. Mentors may earn up to 60 points over a five year period for supporting new educators. More information pertaining to earning points for supporting new educators can be found at <http://www.palmbeachschools.org/staffdev/NewEducators.asp>

New Educator Training

Training is offered through the Department of Professional Development to supplement the Educator Support Program. All training is presented in a variety of formats to model instructional strategies that educators may incorporate in his/her classrooms. Training offered during the duty day must be approved by a school administrator. For information pertaining to current offerings, visit: <http://www.palmbeachschools.org/staffdev/NewEducators.asp>

Marzano and the Educator Support Program

The School District of Palm Beach County is committed to providing a world-class education with excellence and equity to empower each student to reach his or her highest potential with the most effective staff to foster the knowledge, skills, and ethics required for responsible citizenship and productive careers. To assist us in continuously improving our craft, and ultimately student achievement, the District has selected a growth model called the Marzano Observation and Evaluation System.

To assist in orienting ESP participants to the Marzano Observation and Evaluation System, ESP participants will be asked to complete a self-paced course titled Marzano and the Educator Support Program. This course will provide the participant with critical/helpful information for observations that school based administrators will be conducting when they visit the participant's classroom. The course is located on the District's eLM site, and must be completed within the first 15 weeks of program participation (refer to the FY15 ESP Timeline for completion dates). For information on how to register for this program, please visit the Educator Support website:

Florida Educator Accomplished Practices (FEAPs)

The new Florida Educator Accomplished Practices, Professional Competencies for Teachers of the Twenty-First Century, were adopted by Florida's State Board of Education in December 2010 and specify what the State expects teachers to know and be able to do. These new FEAPs combine components from the former twelve areas.

The adoption of these competencies is part of a national transition to standards-based education. The Educator Accomplished Practices are to teachers what the Common Core Standards are to K-12 students.

Task Description (Due by 12/12/14)

Planning is where educators formulate a course of action for carrying out instruction over a school year, a semester, several weeks, a week, a day, or a lesson. Decisions made by educators as they plan for instruction have an influence on all aspects of their classroom behavior and consequently, on the nature of the learning outcomes that result from instruction. If educators plan, they experience more confidence, direction, and security in their performance in the classroom.

A classroom observation will be completed for the new educator using the attached form.

Portfolio Product:

- The observation form
- Pre-Conference guide
- FEAP Post-Observation Conference Record

Directions

In this task, the mentor and the new teacher will complete a pre-conference planning guide to prepare for the upcoming observation. Upon completion of the observation, the mentor and new teacher will complete the post-conference guide to reflect on the observation.

Florida Educator Accomplished Practice (FEAP) 2 - Learning Environment

Task Name: Classroom Management System

Domain 1: Design Question 6, Elements 4-5 Design Question 7, Elements 33-35; Design Question 8, Element 37

Task Description (Due by 9/12/14)

The teacher creates a system to manage the classroom. The system includes rules, expected behaviors, procedures, and organization of space, time, and materials. Being an expert in your content area is clearly a critical aspect of good teaching, but if there is chaos in the room, nothing else will matter.

Portfolio Product:

- Written behavior management plan
- Analysis of your plan and how the plan was implemented in your classroom
- FEAP Post-Observation Conference Record
- Learning Environment Checklist

Directions

You should do the following:

1. Get a copy of your school rules, policies, and procedures from your mentor, department chair, or building administrator. Start thinking about how you will handle discipline, procedures, and routines.
2. Refer to Rick Smith's Conscious Classroom Management or another resource identified by your administrator or mentor to assist you with this task.
3. Write your plan including the following components:
  - Part 1: Procedures and Routines - Establish your procedures so that daily activities become routine. On a separate piece of paper, explain in detail your procedures for the following:
    - Starting the day, taking attendance and dismissing class
    - Entry and exit procedures at the beginning and end of class, as well as during class (e.g., going to the restroom or drinking fountain)
    - Movement within the class
    - Social interaction within the class – permissible and not permissible
    - Getting and storing materials and personal items
    - Quieting the class, including signals for attention
    - Responding to interruptions from visitors and students
    - Calling on students
    - Collecting and returning homework
    - Make-up work – homework and tests
  - Part II: Discipline - Organize your thoughts, and subsequently your discipline plan, into three basic components:
    - Rules
      - What the expected behaviors are

- Aim for five or fewer rules
  - Consequences
    - What the student chooses to accept if a rule is broken
    - Describe what your actions will be when a student breaks a rule
    - Develop a progression of consequences that become more severe each time the rule is broken
  - Rewards
    - What the student receives for appropriate behavior
    - Make sure you include positive consequences for students who follow the rules
4. Have your plan approved by a building administrator and verified by a signature or initials.
  5. Post your plan where it is visible to all students in your classroom.
  6. Write an analysis that includes:
    - How you implemented your plan in the classroom, including how you explained and practiced the plan with your class
  7. Complete the Post Conference Guide with your mentor.

Florida Educator Accomplished Practice (FEAP) 3 - Instructional Delivery and Facilitation

Task Name: Evaluation of Videotaped Teaching

Domain 1: Design Question 2; Design Question 3, Elements 14-15, 17-20; Design Question 4; Design Question 5, Elements 24-32; Design Question 7, Elements 33-35; Design Question 8, Elements 36-38; Design Question 9, Element 39
Domain 2: Elements 42-49; Domain 4.

Task Description (Due by 1/16/15)

Effective communication in the classroom is the foundation for many other Educator Accomplished Practices. Instructional Delivery and Facilitation is about how we deliver instruction and facilitate learning throughout the lesson. The opportunity to watch yourself teaching a concept will help you learn your strengths in delivery and find those areas that you want to continue to develop. Since we often send messages that others perceive differently from the way we intend them, one of the best ways to learn about our strengths and weaknesses is to see ourselves as others see us. Videotaped performance makes that possible.

Directions: The teacher has a 15-30 minute lesson videotaped, evaluates his/her performance by completing a written reflection based on three questions, and obtains an evaluation of the tape from a mentor. The products are a lesson plan, a written self reflection based on the three questions provided and a summary of what they learned, the observation sheet, and the post conference form.

Portfolio Product:

- Pre -Conference Guide
- FEAP Post-Observation Conference Record
- Questions for Self-Assessment
- Narrative reflection
- Observation sheet from your mentor

Directions

You should do the following:

1. Select a Professional growth focus from the first Pre-Conference Planning Guide.
2. Design a lesson; complete the pre-conference planning guide and review questions for self-assessment.
3. Plan to ask questions and stimulate discussion in different ways. Some effective communication strategies you can try include:
  - Restate ideas and draw conclusions
  - Use visual, aural, and kinesthetic cues
  - Probe for learner understanding
  - Be sensitive to nonverbal cues
  - Help students articulate their ideas and thinking processes
  - Promote risk-taking and problem-solving
  - Facilitate factual recall

- Encourage convergent and divergent thinking
  - Stimulate curiosity
  - Help students to formulate questions
4. Schedule someone to videotape the lesson.
  5. Protecting the confidentiality rights of your students is very important. Depending on your school policy, you may need to secure a written authorization from the parent to videotape, or have the person doing the taping stay in the back of the room, filming the backs of heads only. Check with the appropriate person before taping as policies can differ. Please include a list of the names of your students you are not permitted to videotape with your submission of this task.
  6. Watch your videotape and analyze your performance, using the attached self-assessment questions. Write an answer to each of the three questions.
  7. Ask your mentor to review your videotape and analysis, adding his or her comments on your strengths and areas for growth.
  8. NOTE: Your mentor must rate all thirteen (13) elements of the scoring rubric as “Demonstrated” in order to satisfactorily complete this task with one videotaped lesson and analysis. If fewer than 13 elements have been scored as “Demonstrated,” you will need to videotape another lesson, analyze your performance using the self-assessment, and have your mentor review your videotape and analysis again before proceeding to the final summary listed below.
  9. If #7 above is completed satisfactorily, write a final reflection that addresses what you have learned about yourself and what you expect to do to grow as a teacher.

Questions for Self-Assessment

1. How was your physical presentation?
  - Voice quality: volume, pitch and inflection
  - Expression: attentiveness, eye contact, and body movement
2. How is your content presentation?
  - Introduction (Do Now)
  - Questions (higher order and include appropriate pause for response)
  - Examples (use examples and non-examples)
  - Guided practice (well-designed)
  - Pace (momentum)
  - Feedback (meaningful and corrective)
  - Review for comprehension
3. How was your management of behavior?
  - Awareness of student behavior
  - Quick response to misbehavior
  - Classroom climate

Task Name: Alternative Assessment

Domain 1: Design Question 1, Elements 1-3; Design Question 2, Elements 7, 10-13; Design Question 3, Elements 14-15, 17-20; Design Question 4, Elements 21-23; Design Question 5, Elements 26. Domain 2: Elements 42-49.

Task Description (Due by 2/13/15)

The teacher creates an alternative assessment for a higher-order outcome (product or performance). The assessment may be from a textbook that has been modified to meet the criteria of an alternative assessment. (Note: Alternative assessment is an assessment of learning in ways different from traditional paper-and-pencil objective testing, such as portfolio, project, or self-assessment.)

Portfolio Product:

- Alternative instructions that you provided to the students
- A scoring instrument
- Two samples of student work
- Narrative discussion
- FEAP Post-Observation/Conference Record

Directions

You should do the following:

1. Select a higher-order outcome based on a taxonomy, a theory of thinking skills or an accepted content guide for the assessment domain.
2. Develop a task to measure students' learning for that outcome. The task may be either a product or a performance.
3. Write the instructions you will provide to students to maximize their success. Be sure to tell them everything they need to know about what you expect so there will be no surprises when you grade their work. This will make your instructions comprehensive.
4. Determine what scoring method you want to use for the task. For example, a checklist, rating scale, or a rubric.
5. Be prepared to justify your choice of method of scoring, based on the feedback needed for students and the purpose of the task to determine inferences about the assessment domain in your narrative discussion.
6. Create your scoring instrument.
7. Assign the task and grade it.
8. Select at least two work samples from your students -- one that was well done (met or exceeded your criteria) and one that required further correction/revision to meet your criteria or one that failed to meet your criteria even after additional work.

9. Write a reflection on your work. Include the following in your narrative discussion:
  - Why did you select the assessment method used?
  - Why did you select those samples? In your view, what made one excellent and one less than what you expected - at least initially?
  - What did you learn from this assessment? How might you do it differently the next time?
10. Complete the Post Conference Guide with your mentor.
