STATES

State education agencies remain our most important partners in this effort, and their gracious cooperation has helped to ensure the factual accuracy of the final product. Every state formally received a draft of the Yearbook in June 2015 for comment and correction; states also received a final draft of their reports a month prior to release. All but three states responded to our inquiries. While states do not always agree with our recommendations, their willingness to engage in dialogue and often acknowledge the imperfections of their teacher policies is an important step forward.

FUNDERS

The primary funders for the 2015 Yearbook were:

- Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation
- The Joyce Foundation
- The Walton Family Foundation

The National Council on Teacher Quality does not accept any direct funding from the federal government.

Special thanks to Leigh Zimmisky and Lauren DeSha at Ironmark for their design of the 2015 Yearbook. Thanks also to Colleen Hale and Jeff Hale at EFA Solutions for the original Yearbook design and ongoing technical support.

Executive Summary

The 2015 State Teacher Policy Yearbook includes the National Council on Teacher Quality's (NCTQ) full review of the state laws, rules and regulations that govern the teaching profession. This year's report measures state progress against a set of 32 policy goals focused on helping states put in place a comprehensive framework in support of preparing, retaining and rewarding effective teachers.

Progress on Goals Since 2013

Progress Increased: 1 Progress Decreased: 0

AREA 1: Delivering Well-Prepared Teachers

Admission into Teacher Preparation

- Limit admission to teacher preparation programs to candidates in the top half of the college-going population. Academic ability can be measured by a test normed to the general college-bound population or a minimum GPA requirement.

Elementary Teacher Preparation

- As a condition of initial licensure, require that all early childhood candidates pass a rigorous content test that assesses knowledge of all core subjects and require a meaningful passing score for each area.
- Ensure all new early childhood and elementary teachers are prepared to meet the instructional shifts related to informational text, incorporating literacy into all content areas and supporting struggling readers associated with college- and career-readiness standards.

Middle School Teacher Preparation

- Require teacher candidates to pass a content test in every core area they are licensed to teach as a condition of initial licensure.

Special Education Teacher Preparation

- Eliminate the K-12 special education certificate, and require licenses that differentiate between the preparation of elementary and secondary teacher candidates.
- Require elementary special education candidates to pass a rigorous content test as a condition of initial licensure, as well as a rigorous assessment in the science of reading instruction.
- Ensure secondary special education teachers possess adequate content knowledge for the grades and subjects they teach.
- Ensure that all new special education candidates are prepared to meet the instructional shifts related to informational text and incorporating literacy into all content areas associated with college- and career-readiness standards.

Student Teaching

- Ensure that student teachers are only placed with cooperating teachers who have demonstrated effectiveness as measured by student learning.

Teacher Preparation Program Accountability

- Hold teacher preparation programs accountable by collecting data that connect student achievement gains to programs and by establishing the minimum standard of performance for each category of data.

AREA 2: Expanding the Teaching Pool

Alternate Routes to Certification

- Establish guidelines for alternate route programs that require preparation that meets the immediate needs of new teachers.

License Reciprocity

- Grant certification to teachers from other states who can demonstrate evidence of effectiveness.

AREA 3: Identifying Effective Teachers

State Data Systems

- Develop a definition of teacher of record that can be used to provide evidence of teacher effectiveness, strengthen data link between teachers and students, and publish data on teacher production.

Teacher Evaluation

- Require annual evaluations for all teachers.

Tenure

- Ensure that evidence of effectiveness is the preponderant criterion in tenure decisions.

Licensure Advancement

- Base licensure advancement from a probationary to a nonprobationary license and licensure renewal on evidence of effectiveness.

Equitable Distribution of Teachers

- Publish aggregate school-level teacher evaluation ratings from an evaluation system based on instructional effectiveness.

AREA 4: Retaining Effective Teachers

New Teacher Induction

- Require effective induction for all new teachers, including mentoring, reduced teaching load, frequent release time to observe effective teachers and seminars appropriate to grade level or subject area.

Professional Development

- Make sure teachers receive actionable feedback from their performance evaluations.

Compensation

- Support differential pay initiatives for effective teachers in both subject-shortage areas and high-need schools.

AREA 5: Exiting Ineffective Teachers

Extending Emergency Licenses

- Award standard licenses to teachers only after they have passed all required subject-matter licensing tests.

Dismissal for Poor Performance

- Make classroom ineffectiveness grounds for dismissal, and ensure that teachers terminated for ineffectiveness have the opportunity to appeal within a reasonable time frame.

Reductions in Force

- Use teacher effectiveness as a factor when determining which teachers are laid off during a reduction in force.

READING CHARTS AND TABLES:

Strong practices or the ideal policy positions for the states are capitalized:

This year's edition of the State Teacher Policy Yearbook features a new format for presenting state and national data.

Each state's volume is now summarized to present the most important information about key teacher quality policies in an infographic format. Full narrative versions -- including detailed analyses and recommendations as well as the state response for each policy topic -- can now be found online, using NCTQ's State Policy Dashboard (<http://nctq.org/StatePolicyDashboard>).

The National Summary maintains the traditional Yearbook format and presentation. Topics are organized as policy goals, including the specific components that form the basis of each analysis. National findings are included for each goal, as well as a comprehensive set of tables and graphs that provide a national overview of the teacher policy landscape.

GPA Requirement	Not required

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE ADMISSION INTO TEACHER PREP POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Require that teacher preparation programs screen candidates for academic proficiency prior to admission.

Minnesota should require candidates to pass a test of academic proficiency that assesses reading, mathematics and writing prior to program admission. Alternatively, the state could require a minimum grade point average to establish that candidates have a strong academic history.

- Require preparation programs to use a common test normed to the general college-bound population.

This would allow for the selection of applicants in the top half of their class, as well as facilitate program comparison.

- Consider requiring candidates to pass subject-matter tests as a condition of admission into teacher programs.

In addition to ensuring that programs require a measure of academic performance for admission, Minnesota might also want to consider requiring content testing prior to program admission as opposed to at the point of program completion.

Examples of Best Practice

While many states now require CAEP accreditation, which includes a standard requiring strong admission practices, Delaware, Rhode Island and West Virginia have set a high bar independent of the accreditation process, ensuring that the state's expectations are clear. These states require a test of academic proficiency normed to the general college-bound population rather than a test that is normed just to prospective teachers. Delaware, Rhode Island and West Virginia require teacher candidates to have a 3.0 GPA or to be in the top 50th percentile for general education coursework completed. Rhode Island and West Virginia also require an average cohort GPA of 3.0, and, beginning in 2016, the cohort mean score on nationally normed tests such as the ACT, SAT or GRE must be in the top 50th percentile. In 2020, the requirement for the mean test score will increase from the top half to the top third.

5. Requirement for admissions test normed to college-bound population and cohort minimum GPA of 3.0 are based on CAEP accreditation standards, not state's own admissions policies.

6. Candidates can qualify for admission through the GPA or test requirement.

7. New Jersey requires a cohort minimum GPA of 3.0. The requirement for admissions test normed to college-bound population is based on CAEP accreditation standards, not state's own admissions policies.

8. Requirement for cohort minimum GPA of 3.0 is based on CAEP accreditation standards, not Hawaii's own admission standards. Hawaii exempts candidates with a bachelor's degree from admission testing requirements.

9. Candidates can also be admitted with a combination of a 2.8 GPA and qualifying scores on the basic skills test or SAT/ACT.

Elementary Teacher Preparation

MINNESOTA Ratings

Content Knowledge

New elementary teachers know the subject matter they are licensed to teach.

Reading Instruction

New elementary teachers know the science of reading instruction and understand the instructional shifts associated with college- and career-readiness standards.

Mathematics

New elementary teachers have deep knowledge of the math content taught in elementary grades.

Early Childhood

Teachers who can teach elementary grades on an early childhood license are appropriately prepared for the elementary classroom.

 Yes

An adequate science of reading test is required.

 Yes

Teacher preparation and licensure requirements for elementary teachers include the instructional shifts associated with college- and career-readiness standards.

 No

Elementary teachers must have an academic content specialization.

 Somewhat

Teachers who teach elementary grades on an early childhood license are held to appropriate content and early reading requirements.

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE ELEMENTARY TEACHER PREPARATION POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Require all elementary teacher candidates—including candidates for an early childhood license—to pass a subject-matter test designed to ensure sufficient content knowledge of all subjects including reading/language arts, math, science and social studies.

Although Minnesota is on the right track by administering multi-part licensing tests, thus making it harder for early childhood or elementary teachers to pass if they fail some subject areas, the state is encouraged to further strengthen its policy and require separate passing scores for each core subject on its licensing tests.

RECOMMENDATIONS CONTINUED

- Ensure that elementary and early childhood teachers are prepared to meet the instructional requirements of college- and career-readiness standards for students.

Incorporate informational text of increasing complexity into classroom instruction.

Minnesota's testing frameworks are commendable. The state is encouraged to strengthen its existing policy and explicitly require that teachers possess the ability to adequately incorporate complex informational text into classroom instruction.

Incorporate literacy skills as an integral part of every subject.

To ensure that elementary school students are capable of accessing varied information about the world around them, Minnesota should include more specific teacher preparation requirements for all teachers licensed to teach at the elementary level regarding literacy skills and using text as a means to build content knowledge in history/social studies, science, and the arts.

Support struggling readers.

Minnesota should articulate more specific requirements that ensuring all early childhood candidates are prepared to intervene and support students who are struggling.

- Require elementary teacher candidates to complete a content specialization in an academic subject area.

In addition to enhancing content knowledge, this requirement would ensure that prospective teachers in Minnesota take higher-level academic coursework.

Examples of Best Practice

Unfortunately, NCTQ cannot award "best practice" honors to any state's policy in the area of elementary teacher preparation. However, three states—Florida, Indiana and Virginia—are worthy of mention for holding early childhood candidates who are licensed to teach elementary grades to the same standards as all other elementary teachers. Each state requires its early childhood candidates to pass a content test with separately scored subtests, as well as a test of scientifically based reading instruction. Florida also ensures that both early childhood and elementary education teachers are prepared to meet the instructional requirements of college- and career-readiness standards for students.

California stands out for its focus on elementary teachers' readiness to teach reading and literacy skills. All elementary education candidates must pass a comprehensive assessment that specifically tests the five elements of scientifically based reading instruction: phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary and comprehension. California's test frameworks go further than most states in ensuring that elementary teacher candidates have the ability to not only build content knowledge and vocabulary through careful reading of informational and literary texts, but also to challenge students with texts of increasing complexity. Candidates must also show they know how to incorporate literacy skills as an integral part of every subject and are prepared to intervene and support students who are struggling.

Massachusetts's MTEL mathematics subtest continues to set the standard in this area by evaluating mathematics knowledge beyond an elementary school level and challenging candidates' understanding of underlying mathematics concepts.

MINNESOTA Middle School Teacher Preparation Characteristics

Middle School Licenses	K-6; Teachers with K-8 license may teach grades 7-8 in self-contained classrooms; Teachers with secondary licenses may teach single subjects in grades 7-8
Content Tests	5-8: Minnesota Teacher Licensure Examinations (MTLE) Middle Level single-subject tests K-6: MTLE Elementary Education test 5-12: MTLE Secondary level single-subject tests
Academic Requirements	5-8: Candidates must complete the equivalent of a minor in each subject area of licensure.
Instructional Shifts Associated with College- and Career-Readiness Standards	Complex informational text: Partially addressed Incorporating literacy into core subjects: Fully addressed Struggling readers: Fully addressed

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE MIDDLE SCHOOL TEACHER PREPARATION POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

■ Require content testing in all core areas.

Minnesota should require subject-matter testing for all middle school teacher candidates in every core academic area they intend to teach as a condition of initial licensure.

■ Prepare middle school teachers to teach middle school.

Minnesota should not allow middle school teachers to teach on a generalist license that does not differentiate between the preparation of middle school teachers and that of elementary teachers. These teachers are less likely to be adequately prepared to teach core academic areas at the middle school level because their preparation requirements are not specific to the middle or secondary levels and they need not pass a subject-matter test in each subject they teach.

■ Ensure that middle school teachers are prepared to meet the instructional requirements of college- and career-readiness standards for students.

Incorporate informational text of increasing complexity into classroom instruction.

Although Minnesota's testing framework is commendable, the state should strengthen its policy and ensure that teachers are able to challenge students with texts of increasing complexity.

Examples of Best Practice

Arkansas ensures that all middle school teacher candidates are adequately prepared to teach middle school-level content. The state does not offer a K-8 generalist license, requires passing scores on subject-specific content tests and explicitly requires at least two content-area minors. Arkansas also ensures that middle school teachers are prepared to meet the instructional requirements of college- and career-readiness standards for students. The state's competencies for the middle grades specify that middle school candidates must have the ability to not only build content knowledge and vocabulary through careful reading of informational and literary texts but also to challenge students with texts of increasing complexity. Candidates must also know how to incorporate literacy skills as an integral part of every subject and are prepared to intervene and support students who are struggling.

- Alaska does not require content tests for initial licensure.
- Candidates teaching multiple subjects only have to pass the elementary test. Single-subject credential does not require content test.
- For K-8 license, Idaho also requires one single-subject test.
- Illinois requires candidates to take a middle level core content test if a test is available. It is not clear that this will result in teachers passing a test in each subject.
- Maryland allows elementary teachers to teach in departmentalized middle schools if not less than 50 percent of the teaching assignment is within the elementary grades.
- New Hampshire requires K-8 candidates to have a core concentration and to pass a middle school content test in a core area. Teachers with a 5-8 license must pass a Praxis II assessment.
- For nondepartmentalized classrooms, generalist in middle childhood education candidates must pass the new assessment with three subtests.
- Teachers may have until second year to pass tests, if they attempt to pass them during their first year.
- New legislation in Tennessee allows teachers to delay passage of content tests if they possess a bachelor's degree in a core content area.

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE SECONDARY TEACHER PREPARATION POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Ensure that secondary teachers are prepared to meet the instructional requirements of college- and career-readiness standards for students.

Incorporate informational text of increasing complexity into classroom instruction.

Although Minnesota's required secondary English language arts content test addresses informational texts, the state should strengthen its policy and ensure that teachers are able to challenge students with texts of increasing complexity.

Examples of Best Practice

Missouri requires that secondary teacher candidates pass a content test to teach any core secondary subjects. Of particular note, Missouri ensures that its secondary science teachers know the content they teach by taking a dual approach to general secondary science certification. The state offers general science certification but only allows these candidates to teach general science courses. Missouri also offers an umbrella certification—called unified science—that requires candidates to pass individual subtests in biology, chemistry, earth science and physics. These certifications are offered in addition to single-subject licenses. In addition, Missouri requires general social studies teachers to pass a multi-content test with six independently scored subtests.

Arkansas also ensures that secondary teachers are prepared to meet the instructional requirements of college- and career-readiness standards for students. The state's competencies specify that secondary teacher candidates must have the ability to not only build content knowledge and vocabulary through careful reading of informational and literary texts but also to challenge students with texts of increasing complexity. Candidates must also know how to incorporate literacy skills as an integral part of every subject and are prepared to intervene and support students who are struggling.

MINNESOTA Snapshot Special Education Teacher Preparation

	No	Only discrete elementary and secondary special education licenses are offered.
	No	Elementary subject-matter test is required for elementary special education license.
	No	Secondary-level test in at least one subject area is required for secondary special education license.
	No	An adequate test on the science of reading is required for elementary special education teachers.
	Somewhat	Teacher preparation and licensure requirements for special education teachers include the instructional shifts associated with college- and career-readiness standards.

MINNESOTA Special Education Teacher Preparation Characteristics

Special Education License(s)	Birth to grade 1; K-12
Content Tests	Not required
Science of Reading Test	Special Education Core Skills test includes science of reading, but does not have separate subscore.
Instructional Shifts Associated with College-and Career-Readiness Standards	Complex informational text: Partially addressed Incorporating literacy into core subjects: Not addressed Struggling readers: Fully addressed

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE SPECIAL EDUCATION TEACHER PREPARATION POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- End licensure practices that fail to distinguish between the skills and knowledge needed to teach elementary grades and secondary grades.

It is virtually impossible and certainly impractical for Minnesota to ensure that a K-12 special education teacher knows all the subject matter he or she is expected to be able to teach. While the broad K-12 umbrella may be appropriate for teachers of low-incidence special education students, such as those with severe cognitive disabilities, it is deeply problematic for the overwhelming majority of high-incidence special education students, who are expected to learn grade-level content.

- Require that elementary special education candidates pass a rigorous content test as a condition of initial licensure.

Minnesota should requiring a rigorous content test that reports separate, meaningful passing scores for each content area to ensure teachers possess requisite content knowledge in each subject area.

- Science of reading tests (p. 39)

- Ensure that secondary special education teachers possess adequate content knowledge.

While it may be unreasonable to expect multi-subject secondary special education teachers to meet the same requirements as single-subject teachers, Minnesota's current policy of requiring no subject-matter testing is problematic and will not help special education students to meet rigorous learning standards.

- Require all special education teacher candidates who teach elementary grades to pass a rigorous assessment in the science of reading instruction.

Minnesota's MTLE elementary education test required of general education teachers includes the equivalent of a standalone science of reading assessment. Minnesota should, therefore, expand its existing policy and require all special education teachers who teach the elementary grades to pass this assessment as well.

- Ensure that new special education teachers are prepared to incorporate informational text of increasing complexity into classroom instruction..

Either through testing frameworks or teacher standards, Minnesota should more specifically address the instructional shifts toward building content knowledge and vocabulary through increasingly complex informational texts and careful reading of informational and literary texts associated with college- and career-readiness standards for students.

Examples of Best Practice

Unfortunately, NCTQ cannot award "best practice" honors to any state's policy in the area of special education. However, New York and Rhode Island are worthy of mention for taking steps in the right direction in ensuring that all special education teachers know the subject matter they are licensed to teach. These states require that elementary special education candidates pass the same elementary content tests, which are comprised of individual subtests, as general education elementary teachers.

Secondary special education teachers in New York must pass a multi-subject content test for special education teachers comprised of three separately scored sections. Rhode Island requires its secondary special education teachers to hold certification in another secondary area.

In addition, California ensures that all special education teachers are prepared to meet the instructional requirements of college- and career-readiness standards for students. All special education candidates must pass a comprehensive assessment that specifically tests the five elements of scientifically based reading instruction: phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary and comprehension. California's test frameworks go further than most states and ensure that special education teacher candidates have the ability to not only build content knowledge and vocabulary through careful reading of informational and literary texts but also to challenge students with texts of increasing complexity. Candidates also must know how to incorporate literacy skills as an integral part of every subject and are prepared to intervene and support students who are struggling.

- Ensure that new special education teachers are prepared to incorporate literacy skills as an integral part of every subject.

Minnesota should include more specific requirements regarding literacy skills and using text as a means to build content knowledge in history/social studies, science, technical subjects and the arts.

1. Missouri offers a K-12 certification but candidates must pass either the Elementary Multi-Content Assessment or the new Middle/Secondary Content Assessment (English, Mathematics, Science and Social Studies) or choose one of the specific content assessment for a specific area of certification.
2. In Pennsylvania, a candidate who opts for dual certification in elementary or secondary special education as a reading specialist does not have to take a content test.
3. West Virginia also allows elementary special education candidates to earn dual certification in early childhood, which would not require a content test. Secondary special education candidates earning a dual certification as a reading specialist are similarly exempted.
4. North Carolina gives teachers until their second year to earn a passing score, provided they attempt to pass during their first year.
5. New York requires a multi-subject content test specifically geared to secondary special education candidates. It is divided into three subtests.
6. Wisconsin requires a middle school level content area test which does not report subscores for each area.

Examples of Best Practice

Although no state stands out for its pedagogy test policy, eight states are worthy of mention for the licensing test they require to verify that all new teachers meet state standards. Arizona, Florida, Indiana, Minnesota, New Mexico, Ohio, Oklahoma and Texas ensure that all new teachers take a pedagogy test that specifically is aligned with each state's own professional standards.

MINNESOTA Student Teaching Characteristics

Duration of Student Teaching	At least 12 full weeks
Selection of Cooperating Teachers Connected to Effectiveness	No specific requirements
Other Criteria for Selection of Cooperating Teachers	No specific requirements

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE STUDENT TEACHING POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Ensure that cooperating teachers have demonstrated evidence of effectiveness as measured by student learning.

In addition to the ability to mentor an adult, cooperating teachers in Minnesota should also be carefully screened for their capacity to further student achievement.

- Use evidence from the state's teacher evaluation system to select cooperating teachers.

Since Minnesota requires objective measures of student growth to be the significant criterion of its teacher evaluations, the state should utilize its evaluation results in the selection of effective cooperating teachers.

- Explicitly require that student teaching be completed locally, thus prohibiting candidates from completing this requirement abroad.

Outsourcing arrangements for student teaching makes it impossible to ensure the selection of the best cooperating teacher and adequate supervision of the student teacher and may prevent training of the teacher on relevant state instructional frameworks.

Examples of Best Practice

Rhode Island and Tennessee not only require teacher candidates to complete at least 10 weeks of full-time student teaching, but they also require that cooperating teachers have demonstrated evidence of effectiveness as measured by student learning. Further, both of these states ensure that student teaching is completed locally, which better ensures teacher training on relevant state instructional frameworks and allows a higher degree of program oversight and feedback to the teacher candidate.

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE TEACHER PREP PROGRAM ACCOUNTABILITY POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Collect data that connect student achievement gains to teacher preparation programs.

Minnesota requires programs to report a narrow slice of teacher effectiveness data that it reflects only one subset of teachers at one point in time. Minnesota should consider expanding its efforts to connect student achievement gains to teacher preparation programs by collecting the academic achievement gains of students taught by programs' graduates, averaged over the first three years of teaching and disaggregated by specific preparation programs.

- Establish the minimum standard of performance for each category of data.

Minnesota should establish precise minimum standards for teacher preparation program performance for each category of data, which programs should be held accountable for meeting.

■ Prioritize funding for program accountability system.

Although Minnesota's new legislation includes important elements of an accountability system for teacher preparation programs, it also appears that funding has not been provided to implement these requirements. NCTQ encourages the state to prioritize funding for program accountability.

Examples of Best Practice

Delaware and Florida have made great strides in teacher preparation program accountability policies in the past few years and now stand out as leaders in this area. In Delaware and Florida, preparation programs report and are held accountable to a number of measures, including the effectiveness of program graduates as measured by student achievement, as well as placement and retention rates of program graduates.

Delaware has developed minimum standards of performance for each data category and has released the first of its program report cards, which make preparation program data accessible and transparent. In Florida, the state applies specific cut-scores in various data categories to decide on continued program approval. In addition, after two years of initial employment, any program completer in Florida who receives an unsatisfactory evaluation rating must be provided additional training by the preparation program at no additional cost to the teacher.

Alternate Routes to Certification

MINNESOTA Ratings

Eligibility

Alternate route programs only admit candidates with strong academic records while also providing flexibility for nontraditional candidates.

Preparation

Alternate route programs provide efficient preparation that is relevant to the immediate needs of new teachers, as well as adequate mentoring and support.

Usage and Providers

Alternate routes are free from limitations on usage, and a diversity of providers is allowed.

MINNESOTA Snapshot Alternate Routes to Certification

	Yes	A rigorous academic standard is required for program entry.
	Yes	A subject-matter test is required for admission.
	Yes	Subject-matter test can be used in lieu of a major to demonstrate content knowledge.
	No	A practice teaching opportunity is required prior to becoming teacher of record.
	Yes	Intensive mentoring is required to support new teachers.
	No	Coursework requirements are streamlined.
	No	Coursework requirements are limited to relevant topics.
	Yes	Alternate routes are offered without limitation by grades, subjects or geographic areas.
	Somewhat	Providers other than institutions of higher education are permitted.

MINNESOTA Alternate Routes to Certification Characteristics

Name of Route(s)	Minnesota authorizes alternative programs, but there is no specific name given to the route
Academic Requirements for Entry	Minimum 3.0 GPA; waivers for this requirement may be granted for candidates meeting specific criteria that have not yet been determined
Subject-Matter Requirements for Entry	Subject-matter exam
Coursework Requirements	Minimum of 200 instructional hours; no specific guidelines about the nature or amount of coursework
Practice Teaching/Mentoring Requirements	Districts required to provide intensive, multi-year mentoring and induction support; no practice teaching opportunity required
Usage	No limit with regard to subject, grade or geographic area
Eligible Providers	School districts, charter schools and nonprofit providers are permitted, but in practice virtually all providers are institutions of higher education

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE ALTERNATE ROUTES TO CERTIFICATION POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Ensure that pending waivers for minimum GPA requirements are appropriate.

Waiver criteria should offer accommodation to career changers with relevant work experience. Alternatively, the state could require one of the standardized tests of academic proficiency commonly used in higher education for graduate admissions, such as the GRE.

- Establish coursework guidelines for all alternate route preparation programs.

Minnesota should ensure that coursework requirements are manageable and contribute to the immediate needs of new teachers, through exposure to topics like methodology in the content area, classroom management, assessment and scientifically based early reading instruction.

- Ensure that new teachers are not burdened by excessive requirements.

While Minnesota is commended for limiting the length of its alternate route programs, the state should ensure that programs do not overburden the new teacher by requiring multiple courses to be taken simultaneously during the school year.

- Offer opportunities to practice teach.

In addition to intensive induction support, Minnesota may want to consider providing its candidates with a practice-teaching opportunity prior to their placement in the classroom.

- Encourage diversity of alternate route providers.

While Minnesota allows schools districts or charter schools to set up alternate routes, in practice the state almost entirely has only approved Institutes of Higher Education (IHE) to provide alternate route preparation programs.

Examples of Best Practice

No state can be singled out for its overall alternate route policies. There are, however, states that offer best practices in individual alternate route policy areas.

With regard to admissions into alternate routes, the District of Columbia and Michigan have established a high bar. Both require candidates to demonstrate strong academic performance as a condition of admission with a minimum 3.0 GPA. In addition, neither requires a content-specific major; subject-area knowledge is demonstrated by passing a test, making their alternate routes flexible to the needs of nontraditional candidates. Also worthy of note is new policy in New York that significantly raises the bar by requiring that all graduate-level teacher preparation programs adopt entrance standards that include a minimum score on the GRE or an equivalent admission exam and a cumulative minimum GPA of 3.0 in the candidate's undergraduate program.

Delaware has policies that help to ensure that alternate routes provide efficient preparation that meets the needs of new teachers. The state requires a manageable number of credit hours, relevant coursework, intensive mentoring and a practice teaching opportunity.

Most states offer alternate routes that are widely available across grades, subjects and geographic areas and permit alternate route providers beyond higher education institutions. NCTQ commends all states that permit both broad usage and a diversity of providers for their alternate routes.

MINNESOTA Snapshot Part-Time Teaching Licenses

Somewhat

A part-time license with minimal requirements is available for those with subject-matter expertise.

MINNESOTA Part-Time Teaching Licenses Characteristics

Name of License	Non-licensed Community Expert
Subject-Matter Requirements	District outlines candidate's qualifications to Board of Teaching
Other Requirements	District application to Board of Teaching

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE PART-TIME TEACHING LICENSES POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Offer a license that allows content experts to serve as part-time instructors.

It is unclear whether the Non-licensed Community Expert serves as a vehicle for individuals with deep subject-area knowledge to teach a limited number of courses without fulfilling a complete set of certification requirements. It appears that this may be the intent of the license; however, state policy does not describe the conditions of employment, whether it is for part-time or full-time teaching or requirements that candidates must fulfill.

- Require applicants to pass a subject-matter test.

Minnesota should require Non-licensed Community Expert candidates to pass a subject-matter test to ensure expertise in a content area. Only a subject-matter test ensures that Non-licensed Community Expert teachers know the specific content they will need to teach.

Examples of Best Practice

Georgia offers a license with minimal requirements that allows content experts to teach part time. Individuals seeking this license must pass a subject-matter test and are assigned a mentor.

MINNESOTA Snapshot Reciprocity

	No	Evidence of effective teaching is required in reciprocity policy.
	Yes	Out-of-state teachers may apply for a comparable standard license.
	Yes	Out-of-state teachers must meet licensing test requirements.
	Yes	No other strings are attached for reciprocity, such as additional coursework or recency requirements.
	Yes	Transcript analysis is not explicitly required.
	Yes	Alternate route teachers receive equal treatment.

MINNESOTA Reciprocity Characteristics

License Available to Fully Certified Out-of-State Teachers	Professional
Effectiveness Requirements	None
Testing Requirements	Must meet state's testing standards; out-of-state teachers allowed up to four years to meet requirements.
Coursework and/or Recency Requirements	None
Additional Alternate Route Requirements	None

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE RECIPROCITY POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Require evidence of effective teaching when determining eligibility for full certification.

To facilitate the movement of effective teachers between states, Minnesota should require that evidence of teacher effectiveness, as determined by an evaluation that includes objective measures of student growth, be considered for all out-of-state candidates.

- Ensure out-of-state teachers meet testing requirements in a timely manner.

Although Minnesota requires out-of-state teachers to meet its own testing standards, the state allows up to four years for this important requirement to be met. Minnesota is encouraged to strengthen its policy and not allow a teacher to be in a classroom more than one year without having met the state's testing standards.

Examples of Best Practice

Although no state stands out for its overall reciprocity policies, two states are worthy of mention for their connection of reciprocal licensure to evidence of teacher effectiveness. When determining eligibility for full certification, both Delaware and Idaho consider teacher evaluations from previous employment that include objective measures of student growth. NCTQ also commends Indiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Texas for appropriately supporting licensure reciprocity by requiring that certified teachers from other states meet their own testing requirements, and by not specifying any additional coursework or recency requirements to determine eligibility for either traditional or alternate route teachers.

1. Obstacles include transcript analysis, recency and/or coursework requirements, and additional requirements for teachers certified through alternate routes.
2. Alaska allows up to three years to meet testing requirements.
3. Allows up to three years to submit passing scores.

MINNESOTA Snapshot State Data Systems

	Yes	Use of data system for providing evidence of effectiveness is mandated.
	No	Teacher of record is adequately defined.
	No	A process is in place for teacher roster verification.
	No	Data on teacher production are publicly reported.

MINNESOTA State Data System Characteristics

Teacher Student Data Link	Capacity to connect student identifiers to teacher identifiers and match records over time
Teacher of Record Definition	Not adequately connected to providers of instruction.
Other Characteristics	Ability to connect multiple teachers to a single student
Teacher Production Data/ Hiring Statistics	Not reported

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE STATE DATA SYSTEM POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Develop a definition of “teacher of record” that can be used to provide evidence of teacher effectiveness.

Minnesota should articulate a definition of teacher of record that reflects instruction.

- Strengthen data link between teachers and students.

Although Minnesota’s teacher-student data link can connect more than one educator to a particular student in a given course, the state should put in place a process for teacher roster verification, which is of particular importance for using the data system to provide evidence of teacher effectiveness.

- Publish data on teacher production.

Minnesota should look to Maryland’s “Teacher Staffing Report” as a model whose primary purpose is to determine teacher shortage areas, while also identifying areas of surplus.

Examples of Best Practice

Hawaii and West Virginia are leaders in using their state data systems to support the identification and supply of effective teachers. Both states have all three elements needed to assess teacher effectiveness, and both states have also developed definitions of teacher of record that reflect instruction. Their data links can connect multiple teachers to a particular student, and there is a process for teacher roster verification. In addition, Hawaii and West Virginia publish teacher production data. Maryland remains worthy of mention for its “Teacher Staffing Report,” which serves as a model for other states. The report’s primary purpose is to determine teacher shortage areas, while also identifying areas of surplus.

Teacher Evaluation

MINNESOTA Ratings

Evaluation of Effectiveness

Instructional effectiveness is the preponderant criterion of any teacher evaluation.

Frequency of Evaluations

All teachers receive annual evaluations.

Fully meets
 Nearly meets
 Partially meets
 Meets only a small part
 Does not meet

Progress increased since 2013
 Lost ground since 2013

MINNESOTA Snapshot Teacher Evaluation

 Yes	Objective student data is the preponderant or a significant criterion of teacher evaluations.
 No	All teachers are evaluated annually.
 Somewhat	Multiple observations are required for all teachers.
 Yes	More than two rating categories are used.
 Yes	New teachers receive feedback early in the school year.
 Yes	Surveys (student, parent, peer) are explicitly required or allowed.

MINNESOTA Teacher Evaluation Characteristics

Use of Student Achievement Data in Evaluation	Significant criterion. Value-added assessment model must count for 35 percent of teacher evaluation results.
Types of Required Student Data	For grade levels and subject areas for which value-added data are not available, state or local measures of student growth must be established
Other Required Measures	Teacher practice; student engagement
Number of Rating Categories	3
Frequency of Evaluations	Three-year professional review cycle that includes the following: an individual growth and development plan, a peer review process, the opportunity to participate in a professional learning community and at least one summative evaluation. New teachers must be evaluated at least 3 times a year, and the first evaluation must occur within the first 90 days of teaching services.
Number of Observations	Required, but not guaranteed to occur on an annual basis for veteran teachers.
System Structure	State provides framework for district-designed evaluation systems
Surveys (Parent, Student, Peer)	Student surveys explicitly allowed
Evaluator Requirements	Training

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE TEACHER EVALUATION POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Require instructional effectiveness to be the preponderant criterion of any teacher evaluation.

Minnesota's evaluation system falls short by failing to require that evidence of student learning be the most significant criterion. The state should strengthen its policy by ensuring a teacher is unable to receive an effective rating if found to be ineffective in the classroom.

Examples of Best Practice

Tennessee requires that objective measures of student growth be the preponderant criterion of all evaluations. All teachers in the state must be evaluated annually, and multiple observations are required, with a postobservation conference scheduled after each to discuss performance. The state's observation schedule ensures that new teachers receive feedback early in the year. Tennessee also requires the use of five performance rating categories.

Idaho, New Jersey and Washington also require annual evaluations and multiple observations for all teachers, and they ensure that new teachers are observed and receive feedback during the first half of the school year.

For more information about MINNESOTA's teacher evaluation policies, including detailed recommendations, full narrative analysis and state response, see <http://nctq.org/StatePolicyDashboard>

- Ensure annual review of teacher performance.

Minnesota should clarify its requirements regarding the three-year professional review cycle to ensure that a tenured teacher's performance is adequately reviewed, especially for those years when a summative evaluation is not required.

- Base evaluations on multiple observations.

To guarantee that annual evaluations are based on an adequate collection of information, Minnesota should require multiple observations for all teachers.

- Ensure that classroom observations specifically focus on and document the effectiveness of instruction.

Minnesota should ensure that the primary component of a classroom observation be quality of instruction, as measured by student time on task, student grasp or mastery of the lesson objective and efficient use of class time.

1. The state has an ESEA waiver requiring an evaluation system that includes student achievement as a significant factor. However, no specific guidelines or policies have been articulated.

2. In 2014-15, student achievement was 10% of the total evaluation rating; for 2015-16, it is 20%. This appears connected to test transition rather than permanent lowering of student growth percentage.

3. Explicitly defined for 2014-15 school year.

MINNESOTA Snapshot Tenure

 No	Evidence of effectiveness is the preponderant criterion in tenure decisions.
 Somewhat	Tenure is not automatically awarded.
 No	Probationary period is at least four years.

MINNESOTA Tenure Characteristics

Consideration of Teacher Effectiveness	At the conclusion of probationary period, the board consults with the peer review committee charged with evaluating the teacher to determine whether to renew the annual contract.
Length of Probationary Period	3 years

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE TENURE POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Ensure that evidence of effectiveness is the preponderant criterion in tenure decisions.

Minnesota should make evidence of effectiveness, rather than number of years in the classroom, the most significant factor when determining this leap in professional standing.

- Require a longer probationary period.

Minnesota should extend its probationary period, ideally to five years. This would allow sufficient time to collect data that adequately reflect teacher performance.

Examples of Best Practice

Colorado, Connecticut and New York appropriately base tenure decisions on evidence of teacher effectiveness. In Connecticut, tenure is awarded after four years and must be earned on the basis of effective practice as demonstrated in evaluation ratings. Colorado requires ratings of either effective or highly effective for three consecutive years to earn tenure status, which can then be lost with two consecutive years of less-than-effective ratings. New York has extended its probationary period to four years and requires teachers to be rated effective or highly effective for three of those years. All three states require that student growth be the preponderant criterion of teacher evaluations.

1. Florida only awards annual contracts; decisions are connected to effectiveness.
2. Kansas only awards annual contracts; decisions are not connected to effectiveness.
3. North Carolina generally awards only one-year contracts, except that teachers can be awarded a two- or four-year contract if they have "shown effectiveness as demonstrated by proficiency on the evaluation instrument." However, no student growth measures required.
4. No state-level policy.
5. Oklahoma has created a loophole by essentially waiving student learning requirements and allowing the principal of a school to petition for career-teacher status.

1. Florida only awards annual contracts.
2. Idaho limits teacher contract terms to one year.
3. Kansas has eliminated due process rights associated with tenure.
4. North Carolina teachers can be awarded a two- or four-year contract if they have "shown effectiveness as demonstrated by proficiency on the evaluation instrument." However, no student growth measures required.
5. In Ohio, teachers must hold an educator license for at least 7 years, and have taught in the district at least 3 of the last 5 years.
6. Oklahoma teachers may also earn career status with an average rating of at least effective for a four-year period and a rating of at least "effective" for the last two years.
7. In Virginia, local school boards may extend up to five years.
8. In Washington, at a district's discretion, a teacher may be granted tenure after the second year if he/she receives one of the top two evaluation ratings.

MINNESOTA Snapshot Licensure Advancement

 No	Advancement from a probationary to a professional license is based on evidence of teacher effectiveness.
 No	Renewal of a professional license is based on evidence of teacher effectiveness.
 Somewhat	Other advancement/renewal requirements have a direct connection to classroom effectiveness.
 Yes	An advanced degree is not a requirement for license advancement.

MINNESOTA Licensure Advancement Characteristics

Performance Requirements to Advance from a Probationary to Professional License	None
Other Requirements for Advancement	Must complete 125 clock hours of professional development in the following areas: positive behavioral intervention strategies, accommodations and modifications to meet student needs, warning signs for mental illness in children, technology and in-service preparation in scientifically based reading instruction and effective integration of technology with student learning. Must include evidence of work that demonstrates professional reflection and growth in best-teaching practices.
Initial Certification Period	5 years
Performance Requirements to Renew a Professional License	None
Other Requirements for Renewal	Must complete 125 clock hours of professional development in the following areas: positive behavioral intervention strategies, accommodations and modifications to meet student needs, warning signs for mental illness in children, technology and in-service preparation in scientifically based reading instruction and effective integration of technology with student learning. Must include evidence of work that demonstrates professional reflection and growth in best-teaching practices.
Renewal Period	5 years

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE LICENSURE ADVANCEMENT POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

■ Require evidence of effectiveness as a part of teacher licensing policy.

Minnesota should require evidence of teacher effectiveness to be a factor in determining whether teachers can renew their licenses or advance to a higher-level license. The state's renewal requirement for professional reflection on evidence of effectiveness does not constitute an objective measure of teacher effectiveness.

- Discontinue license requirements with no direct connection to classroom effectiveness.

While Minnesota's targeted coursework requirements in accommodations and scientifically based reading instruction may potentially expand teacher knowledge and improve teacher practice, Minnesota's other general, nonspecific coursework requirements for license advancement and renewal do not correlate with teacher effectiveness.

Examples of Best Practice

Both Rhode Island and Louisiana are integrating certification, certification renewal and educator evaluations. In Rhode Island, teachers who receive poor evaluations for five consecutive years are not eligible to renew their licenses. In addition, teachers who consistently receive highly effective ratings are eligible for a special license designation. Louisiana requires its teachers to meet the standard for effectiveness for three years during their initial certification or renewal period to be issued a certificate or have their certificate renewed.

Public Reporting of Teacher Effectiveness Data	Not reported
Other Public Reporting Related to Teacher Distribution	Reports percentage of teachers with fewer than three years of experience and the percentage of highly qualified teachers; reported at the school level.

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION OF TEACHERS POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

■ Report school-level teacher effectiveness data.

Minnesota should make aggregate school-level data about teacher performance—from an evaluation system based on instructional effectiveness—publicly available.

■ Publish other data that facilitate comparisons across schools.

Minnesota should collect and report other school-level data that reflect the stability of a school's faculty, including the rates of teacher absenteeism and turnover.

■ Provide comparative data based on school demographics.

Minnesota should provide comparative data for schools with similar poverty and minority populations, as this would yield a more comprehensive picture of gaps in the equitable distribution of teachers.

■ Ensure that ideas outlined in the Equity Plan evolve into state policy.

Minnesota's 2015 Equity Plan outlines the state's intention to further report on the equitable distribution of its teachers throughout the state. However, because adherence is voluntary, Minnesota is strongly encouraged to follow through with its public reporting plan.

Examples of Best Practice

Although not awarding "best practice" honors for this topic, NCTQ commends the 13 states that give the public access to teacher performance data aggregated to the school level. This transparency can help shine a light on how equitably teachers are distributed across and within school districts and help to ensure that all students have access to effective teachers.

Other Mentor Requirements	Not applicable
Required Induction Strategies Other than Mentoring	Not applicable

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE NEW TEACHER INDUCTION POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Ensure that a high-quality mentoring experience is available to all new teachers, especially those in low-performing schools.

Minnesota should ensure that all new teachers—and especially any teacher in a low-performing school—receive mentoring support, especially in the first critical weeks of school.

- Set specific parameters.

To ensure that all teachers receive high-quality mentoring, Minnesota should specify how long the program lasts for a new teacher, who selects the mentors and a method of performance evaluation.

- Ensure high quality mentors.

Minnesota should articulate minimum guidelines for the selection of high-quality mentors. Of particular importance is that mentors themselves are effective teachers. Teachers without evidence of effectiveness should not be able to serve as mentors.

- Require induction strategies that can be successfully implemented, even in poorly managed schools.

Minnesota should make certain that induction includes strategies such as intensive mentoring, seminars appropriate to grade level or subject area and a reduced teaching load and/or frequent release time to observe other teachers.

Examples of Best Practice

South Carolina requires that all new teachers, prior to the start of the school year, be assigned mentors for at least one year. Districts carefully select mentors based on experience and similar certifications and grade levels, and mentors undergo additional training. Adequate release time is mandated by the state so that mentors and new teachers may observe each other in the classroom, collaborate on effective teaching techniques and develop professional growth plans. Mentor evaluations are mandatory and stipends are recommended.

Arkansas, Illinois, Maryland and New Jersey are also worthy of mention for their requirements related to mentor selection. Arkansas, Illinois and New Jersey require that all mentors must be rated in one of the top two rating categories on their most recent evaluation. Maryland also requires mentors, who are either current or retired teachers, to have obtained effective evaluation ratings.

MINNESOTA Professional Development Characteristics

Connection Between Evaluation and Professional Development	Staff development activities must be coordinated with "the evaluation process and teachers' evaluation outcomes."
Evaluation Feedback	Not required
Improvement Plan	Teachers not meeting the evaluation standards must be given "support to improve through a teacher improvement process that includes established goals and timelines."

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Require that evaluation systems provide teachers with feedback about their performance.

Minnesota should require that evaluation systems provide teachers with adequate feedback about strengths and areas that need improvement identified in their evaluations.

Examples of Best Practice

Louisiana and Massachusetts require that teachers receive feedback about their performance from their evaluations and direct districts to connect professional development to teachers' identified needs. Both states also require that teachers with unsatisfactory evaluations be placed on structured improvement plans. These improvement plans include specific performance goals, a description of resources and assistance provided, as well as timelines for improvement.

1. Does not require improvement plans for all less-than-effective teachers; just those in the lowest rating category.

2. South Dakota requires improvement plans only for teachers rated unsatisfactory who have been teaching for four years or more.

Compensation

MINNESOTA Ratings

Pay Scales and Performance Pay

While local districts are given the authority over pay scales, performance pay is supported, but in a manner that recognizes its appropriate uses and limitations.

Differential Pay

Differential pay for effective teaching in shortage and high-need areas is supported.

Compensation for Prior Work Experience

Districts are encouraged to provide compensation for related prior subject-area work experience.

MINNESOTA Snapshot Compensation

	Yes	Districts have flexibility to determine pay structure and scales.
	Yes	Effective teachers can receive performance pay.
	Somewhat	Districts are discouraged from tying compensation to advanced degrees.
	No	Teachers can earn additional compensation by teaching shortage subjects.
	No	Teachers can earn additional compensation by teaching in high-need schools.
	No	Districts are encouraged to provide compensation for related prior subject-area work experience.

MINNESOTA Compensation Characteristics

Authority for Salary Schedule	Controlled by local districts
Performance Pay Initiatives	Local districts may choose to implement an alternative teacher professional pay system, Quality Compensation for Teachers (Q Comp), in which 60 percent of compensation is determined by teacher performance.
Role of Experience and Advanced Degrees in Salary Schedule	Only discouraged for those districts implementing Q Comp
Differential Pay for Shortage Subjects	None
Differential Pay for High-Need Schools	None
Pay for Prior Work Experience	None

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE COMPENSATION POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

■ Expand requirement for salary schedule reform to include all districts.

Minnesota should require all districts, not just those participating in Q Comp, to emphasize teacher effectiveness in their salary schedules. The state should discourage all districts from basing teacher pay solely on advanced degrees and years of experience.

■ Support differential pay initiatives for effective teachers in both subject-shortage areas and high-need schools.

Minnesota should encourage districts to link compensation to district needs. Such policies can help districts achieve a more equitable distribution of teachers.

- State support for performance pay (p. 114)
- Differential pay for shortage subjects or high-need schools (p. 119)
- Compensation for prior work experience (p. 121)

- Encourage local districts to compensate new teachers with relevant prior work experience.

Minnesota should encourage districts to incorporate mechanisms such as starting these teachers at a higher salary than other new teachers. Such policies would be attractive to career changers with related work experience, such as in the STEM subjects.

Examples of Best Practice

Florida allows local districts to develop their own salary schedules while preventing districts from prioritizing elements not associated with teacher effectiveness. Local salary schedules must ensure that the most effective teachers receive salary increases greater than the highest salary adjustment available. Florida also supports differential pay by providing salary supplements for teachers in both high-need schools and shortage subject areas.

In addition, Indiana and Utah both articulate compensation policies that reward effective teachers by requiring performance to be the most important factor in deciding a teacher's salary. Louisiana supports differential pay by offering up to $3,000 per year, for four years, to teach math, biology, chemistry, physics and special education, and up to an additional $6,000 per year, up to four years, to teach in low-performing schools. North Carolina compensates new teachers with relevant prior-work experience by awarding them one year of experience credit for every year of full-time work after earning a bachelor's degree that is related to their area of licensure and work assignment.

Do states ensure pay is structured to account for performance?

- Strong Practice: Florida, Hawaii, Indiana, Louisiana, Michigan, Nevada, Utah
- Strong Practice: Arkansas, Delaware, Georgia, Minnesota, Mississippi, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee⁴
- Alabama, Alaska, Arizona⁵, California, Colorado, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Idaho⁶, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky⁷, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri⁸, Montana, Nebraska⁷, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon⁷, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Texas, Vermont, Virginia⁷, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, Wyoming
- A performance component is not required. Districts must differentiate teacher compensation based on at least one of the following criteria: additional roles or responsibilities, hard-to-staff schools or subject areas, and performance based on teacher evaluations.
- Arizona allocates funds for teacher compensation increases based on performance and employment related expenses; there is no clear requirement for compensation connected to evidence of effectiveness.
- Idaho does offer a master teacher premium, but it is dependent on years of experience.
- Performance bonuses are available, but not specifically tied to teacher effectiveness.
- Performance bonuses are available for teachers in schools deemed "academically deficient."

Figure 34

- Louisiana allows districts to set salary schedules based on three criteria: effectiveness, experience and demand. Advanced degrees may be included only as part of demand.
- Only discouraged for those districts implementing Q Comp.
- For advanced degrees earned after April 2014.
- Rhode Island requires local district salary schedules to include teacher "training".
- Texas has a minimum salary schedule based on years of experience. Compensation for advanced degrees is left to district discretion.

No

If emergency licenses are offered, teachers are given no longer than one year to pass all subject-matter tests.

MINNESOTA Extended Emergency License Characteristics

Emergency License	Temporary Limited License; One-year teaching license
Minimum Requirements	Temporary Limited License: Applicants must have "completed a college or university degree with at least a minor in the area for which teacher licensure is requested." One-year Teaching License: "an otherwise qualified candidate who has not yet passed the board-adopted skills exam."
Duration	Temporary Limited License: 1 year One-year Teaching license: 1 year
Renewal Requirements	Temporary Limited License: May be renewed 2 times, teachers must verify that they have taken the skills area examination, and that they are participating in an approved remedial assistance program for support in the test areas that were not passed One-year Teaching license: May be renewed 4 times, renewal requirements unclear

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE EXTENDED EMERGENCY LICENSE POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Ensure that all teachers pass required subject-matter licensing tests before they enter the classroom.

Permitting individuals who have not yet passed state licensing tests to teach neglects the needs of students, instead extending personal consideration to adults who may not be able to meet minimal state standards.

- Limit exceptions to one year.

There might be limited and exceptional circumstances under which conditional or emergency licenses need to be granted. Minnesota's current policy puts students at risk by allowing teachers to teach on a temporary limited license for three years without passing required licensing tests, especially since the state's policy acknowledges that some of these teachers are permitted to continue teaching despite having failed all or some sections of the required examinations.

Examples of Best Practice

Mississippi, New Jersey and Rhode Island require all new teachers to pass all required subject-matter tests as a condition of initial licensure.

1. Teachers can have up to two additional years to pass licensing tests in the event of "extraordinary extenuating circumstances."

2. Out-of-state teachers can teach on a non-renewable license until all requirements are met.

3. Tennessee does not offer emergency licenses but candidates for initial practitioner license have three years to pass licensure tests.

4. Permits can be extended without passing licensing tests if districts receive hardship approval.

Dismissal for Poor Performance

MINNESOTA Ratings

Dismissal

Ineffective classroom performance is grounds for dismissal and the process for terminating ineffective teachers is expedient and fair to all parties.

MINNESOTA Snapshot Dismissal

	Somewhat	Teacher ineffectiveness is grounds for dismissal.
	No	Terminated teachers have one opportunity to appeal.
	No	Appeals process occurs within a reasonable timeframe.
	No	The due process rights of teachers dismissed for ineffective performance are different from those facing license revocation.

MINNESOTA Dismissal Characteristics

Dismissal for Ineffectiveness	May be dismissed for "inefficiency" as it pertains to the state's evaluation system, but no explicit definition that ties inefficiency to classroom ineffectiveness
Due Process Rights of Teachers	Same regardless of the grounds for cancellation, which include "inefficiency in teaching; neglect of duty, or persistent violation of school laws, rules, regulations, or directives; conduct unbecoming a teacher which materially impairs the teacher's educational effectiveness; and other good and sufficient grounds rendering the teacher unfit to perform the teacher's duties."
Length of Appeals Process	Multiple opportunities to appeal: After written notice, the teacher has 14 days to file the first appeal. Time frame not specified except that it must be "held upon appropriate and timely notice to the teacher." An appeal for judicial review is possible, but no time frame or procedures are specified.

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE DISMISSAL POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Specify that classroom ineffectiveness is grounds for dismissal.

Even though Minnesota links “inefficiency in teaching” to its evaluation process, the state should more explicitly define teacher ineffectiveness so that districts have clear parameters for terminating consistently poor performers.

- Ensure that teachers terminated for poor performance have the opportunity to appeal within a reasonable time frame.

Minnesota should ensure that the opportunity to appeal occurs only once and only at the district level so that a conclusion is reached within a reasonable time frame.

- Distinguish the process and accompanying due process rights between dismissal for classroom ineffectiveness and dismissal for morality violations, felonies or dereliction of duty.

While nonprobationary teachers should have due process for any termination, Minnesota should differentiate between loss of employment and issues with far-reaching consequences that could permanently affect a teacher’s right to practice. Appeals related to effectiveness should only be decided by those with educational expertise.

Examples of Best Practice

New York now allows charges of incompetence against any teacher who receives two consecutive ineffective ratings; charges must be brought against any teacher who receives three consecutive ineffective ratings. Due process rights for teachers dismissed for ineffective performance are distinguishable from those facing other charges, and an expedited hearing is required. For teachers who have received three consecutive ineffective ratings, that timeline must not be longer than 30 days.

1. Kansas has repealed the law that gave tenured teachers who faced dismissal the right to an independent review of their cases.

2. In Nevada, a teacher reverts to probationary status after two consecutive unsatisfactory evaluations, but the state does not articulate that ineffectiveness is grounds for dismissal.

RECOMMENDATIONS TO IMPROVE REDUCTIONS IN FORCE POLICIES IN MINNESOTA

- Require that districts consider performance in determining which teachers are laid off during reductions in force.

Minnesota can still leave districts flexibility in determining layoff policies, but it should do so within a framework that ensures that classroom performance is considered.

- Ensure that seniority is not the only factor used to determine which teachers are laid off.

While it is not unreasonable for Minnesota to lay off probationary teachers before those with tenure, doing so based solely on seniority and without also considering performance risks sacrificing effective teachers while maintaining low performers, putting adult interests before student needs.

Examples of Best Practice

Colorado and Florida specify that in determining which teachers to lay off during a reduction in force, classroom performance is the top criterion. These states also articulate that seniority can only be considered after a teacher's performance is taken into account.
