NEBRASKA EARNS D GRADE FOR TEACHER POLICIES IN NEW EDITION OF NATIONAL YEARBOOK

STATE DEMONSTRATES NO PROGRESS IN STATE TEACHER POLICIES SINCE 2015

Washington, DC--Today, the National Council on Teacher Quality (NCTQ) released its bi-annual 2017 State Teacher Policy Yearbook, finding that states' previous rapid progress to modernize their teacher policies has largely slowed. Nebraska's overall grade for its teaching policies remained at a D between 2015 and 2017. By comparison, the overall grade nationally during this time period stayed flat at a C-grade.

From 2007 until 2015, most states took aggressive steps to improve the teaching profession. However, since the last edition of the Yearbook in 2015, few states have initiated any new actions to improve their policies guiding how teachers are selected, prepared, evaluated, and retained. As a result, state grades have mostly stagnated, with more state grades decreasing than at any other time in the Yearbook's history.

This year, among all 50 states and the District of Columbia, 42 states earned a higher grade than Nebraska, four states performed as well as Nebraska, and only four states earned a lower grade. Florida and Louisiana each earned a B+, the highest grade in this year's Yearbook.

"States' teacher policies have an enormous impact on the quality of education in the state," said Elizabeth Ross, Managing Director of State Policy at NCTQ. "By highlighting opportunities for improvement, as well as strong policies, this Yearbook is designed to catalyze state action. We know the progress states are capable of making and urge them to do so. Teachers and students deserve nothing less."

Nebraska has several key opportunities for growth. In its 2017 Yearbook, NCTQ reported that the state earned F grades for its policies governing Elementary Teacher Preparation, Special Education Teacher Preparation, Teacher and Principal Evaluation, and Retaining Effective Teachers.

As a bright spot for the state, the Yearbook recognized Nebraska's strong policies regarding Secondary Teacher Preparation, Middle School Content Knowledge and Secondary Content Knowledge for requiring that middle school candidates with a middle grades license pass a rigorous, single-subject content test and that secondary teachers pass a single-subject content test as a condition of initial licensure and to add an endorsement to an existing license.
